Dear [REDACTED]

Further to your information request of 2 October 2014 in respect of breaches to section 29 of the Hamilton City Council Traffic Bylaw 2012 in respect of windscreen washing and other activities at intersections, please find attached our response below.

You requested:

"I would like to know how many people have breached the Traffic Bylaw 2012 since the ammendment enforcement date on November 1st 2013, to include section 29.

>

> I would also like to know if there have been any cases of individuals that have breached this bylaw more than once.

>

> I would like to know how the bylaw is enforced and by whom and what types of penalties occur. I would like this to be broken down on a case by case basis.

> Anything else you can add on this topic would be appreciated."

I can advise that Hamilton City Council (HCC) does not enforce this section of the Traffic Bylaw. Consequently, we are unable to provide you with this information, as it is not held.

However, it is understood that NZ Police do enforce Section 29 of the Hamilton City Council Traffic Bylaw 2012 and may be able to assist you.

If you have any queries, please do not hesitate to contact me.

On Behalf of the Privacy Officer
