Richard Armstrong		With reference : Rules 7.4.3 & 7.4.4Removal of height restrictions on Central City area... I FULLY SUPPORT the removal of height restrictions for buildings in the central city.Having lived overseas for 6 years and returned to Hamilton it is shocking to see the huge number of empty shops in Victoria St and general lack of activity and people. The central city needs a permanent residential population of several thousand in order to revitalise the area. Simply having an active Hood St on Fridays and weekends is not sufficient to make Hamilton a city with positive energy. My wife and I are returning to Hamilton soon and would be very keen to live in the central city in a purpose built high rise apartment building, in or very near Victoria St.The removal of height restrictions in the city will be just one facet required to make our great city of Hamilton somewhere to be very proud of.	Not Answered
